

Aaron B. Hughes

Associate Program Director, Houston

Aaron B. Hughes is Professor of Government at Houston Community College-Northeast. He teaches undergraduate courses in American government and politics at the national, state and local levels. Prior to becoming a full-time professor, Mr. Hughes was Program Manager for Communications, Marketing and Sales in the Corporate Training and Continuing Education department at Houston Community College-Central. Mr. Hughes earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in Communications from Texas Southern University and a Master of Arts degree in Political Science from Temple University. His experience in grass-roots government and politics began with a volunteer position in the office of a Houston City Council Member. Since that time Mr. Hughes has held a variety of positions on the staffs of elected officials at all levels of government.